Sustainable island living

Reverse Osmosis Water

We are committed to sustainability through our Reverse Osmosis (RO) water initiative. This advanced water purification system ensures a reliable supply of clean, safe water for our guests and team members. By utilizing RO technology, we reduce our reliance on bottled water, minimize plastic waste and promote environmental conservation. This initiative reflects our dedication to creating a sustainable and eco-friendly environment.

Organic Herb Garden

Our herb garden supplies fresh, organic herbs to our canteen and serves as a living classroom for our Thai cooking classes. Guests can learn about sustainable farming practices while picking fresh ingredients to use in their cooking sessions.

Ghost crab

Conservation

Ghost crab conservation

Our beach is home to large ghost crabs, an indicator of our untouched natural environment. To conserve and protect them, we have initiated a campaign to educate our guests and the local community about the importance of refraining from touching ghost crabs and other marine life.

Hornbill House

Hornbills have long been residents of the island, but deforestation has significantly decreased their habitat and population. We have collaborated with local villagers and consulted with experts to build houses for the hornbills at the resort. This initiative aims to increase their population and ensure their continued presence on Koh Yao Yai.

Native stingless bees

Nestled in our garden is a precious living treasure: native stingless bees, tiny pollinators essential to our island's biodiversity. These gentle creatures support native flora and maintain our garden's delicate ecosystem balance on Thailand's last unspoiled island.
